Patron Membership Form 2017

Why join as Patron?

Passivhaus Trust Patron membership has been developed to finance and support important research work the Passivhaus Trust wants to undertake to lobby, promote and educate about the Passivhaus standard and Passivhaus principles in new build and retrofit developments, both residential and non residential. It relies on a committee of experts to develop consensus-based programmes and papers.

Passivhaus Trust Patrons will

- be invited to join our Technical working groups and other committees thus influencing policy-makers, developers, clients and other key players
- be able to attend exclusive meetings to develop strategies and proceedings
- have logo and name associated and displayed on all relevant Passivhaus Trust research material published on our website
- be able to use the Passivhaus Trust Patron logo on marketing materials
- help to promote the Passivhaus standard in the UK

Patron Membership Benefits

- one year membership fee included and automatically all the benefits of standard membership of the Passivhaus Trust & the International Passivhaus Association, iPHA
- early access to Passivhaus Trust research and other outputs
- link into broader international experience of Passivhaus, particularly through the iPHA
- access to the Passivhaus forum via iPHA
- receive discounts on Passivhaus Trust and Passivhaus Trust members course fees
- network with leading Passivhaus experts, practitioners and academics

Membership Requirements

Members must refer to Passive House (or Passivhaus) Buildings and the components used in their construction exclusively as those buildings/components that fulfil the Passive House Standard criteria, as set out by the Passive House Institute, Darmstadt, Germany (see www.passivehouse.com). Turnover applies to all UK activities of the company registered. For multi-national companies, this will be clarified by using the denomination Name (UK).

Passivhaus Trust members will automatically be registered and their details shared with the International International Passive House Association in accordance with iPHA's standard Terms & Conditions.

Membership applies to the company registered; this name will be used on all Passivhaus Trust materials. If Passivhaus activities are undertaken by a subsidiary company or division, these can be registered in their own name, but not in the name of the parent company.
